(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 23.—Three hundred fire fighters of a total force of six hundred, which have been battling the flames in White Pine forest in Northern Idaho, are unaccounted for today. The government forest supervisor, Weigle, at Wallace, today declared his belief that nearly all had perished.

Damage to Roads.

EXTRA SESSION IS POSSIBILITY YET*Report From Madison Shows That It May Be Called This Fall to Pass Certain Laws.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 23.—The extraordinary session contemplated in a resolution adopted by the Wisconsin legislature of 1909 is still a possibility. Straws indicating that sentiment in this direction are becoming more numerous at the state capital and the impression is gaining headway that pressure upon the governor to exercise his prerogative may have the desired effect.

Some time ago it was made plain that there was need for the special session, if only to pass upon the various proposed constitutional amendments which will go on the ballot at the November election, and which already have passed one session of the legislature. These provide a means for appropriating state aid for highways, state control of forests and water powers and a special session giving the legislature the right to legislate especially for the capital city.

It has just been made plain that supporters of the movement to secure state control of forests and water powers are not the only ones who want the proposed amendment taken up at a special session. The interest opposed to the idea also would like to have the question taken up by the present legislature, feeling that they will have a better chance to defeat it through the present membership than they will through the members to be elected this fall. They believe that the next aggregation of voters will contain a larger percentage of so-called "radicals" with whom the idea of state control of anything and everything is a chief hobby.

While Governor Davidson so far has shown a disinclination to call a special session—chiefly on the plea that the special joint committees would not be ready in time with their reports and bills—the fact that all of these committees undoubtedly will have finished their labors by the middle of October will wipe out this objection. Of course there are forces opposed to the extra session because it might complicate politics if it were held about election time, but the prediction is being made with no little confidence by well informed persons at the capital that the special session will meet during the month of November.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 23.—William Hackett and James Evans, members of the crew of the Cunard liner Saxonia, were given a preliminary hearing before United States Marshall Darling today on a charge of aiding and abetting the unlawful smuggling into this country of Chinamen. The two were arrested about ten days ago following the confession of a Chinaman who declared that he and seven of his countrymen had been landed unlawfully from the Saxonia through the connivance of Hackett and Evans. The revelations have led the immigration authorities to believe that a systematic traffic for the importation of Chinamen exists. It is thought that the system has agents on both sides of the water and that the stowaways are being sent over in charge of men on the liner. Captain Benson of the Saxonia has also been arrested on a technical charge of being "knowingly implicated in the transaction."

HALL & HUEBEL

TO DEVISE METHODS OF ECONOMY FOR PRESIDENT TAFT
Chas. De Lano Hine, Expert Organizer.

Washington, D. C.—President Taft has given directions for the beginning of the preliminary work of carrying out his plan of economy in the various departments of the government under the authorization given him in a clause in the sundry civil appropriation bill passed at the recent session. In that measure the sum of $100,000 was placed at his disposal for the purpose.

The entire matter is under the jurisdiction of the president and he has directed Major Charles De Lano Hine, an organization expert, who has done effective work in connection with systematizing the administration of affairs of the Harriman lines, to make a sort of survey of the situation in the government departments and report to him the best way to proceed with the undertaking.

Major Hine is in Washington and has had a consultation with Acting Attorney General Hare in regard to the matter. After a talk with some of the other officials, chiefly those in executive positions in the different departments, he will submit to the president a statement of the best plan to go about the work which Mr. Taft is so anxious to have begun.

It is estimated that fully a year must elapse before the committee of experts can complete its investigation and inaugurate the new methods which it will recommend. It is probable that many of the changes which are deemed advisable, will require congressional action. It is the purpose of the president, if possible, to have some of these matters in shape so that they may be authorized by congress during the forthcoming short session.

TALK-AROUND ON THE CIRCUS TAX

GREW RATHER HEATED AT COUNCIL MEETING.

MAXFIELD WILL GO AHEAD

With New Complaint Against Gas Co. — Mayor Praised Police — New Appointees to Library Board.

Considerable attention was devoted to the question of licensing circus exhibitions at the regular meeting of the common council last evening. Mayor Carle, just before the recess, called attention to the fact that while it had cost $18 for extra police and the city had sustained considerable damage to its streets, the toll taken from the Ringling Brothers had amounted to only $50. He recommended that the license fee exacted from all such entertainments be at least doubled before another year. Towards the end of the session Ald. Buchholz desired to know who had been responsible for allowing the Buffalo Bill aggregation to escape with a $25 fee and upon learning that the city clerk had acted under the direction of certain members of the license committee, offered a resolution to the effect that these members be required to refund to the city treasury the difference between that amount and the $50 which should have been charged under the ordinance for a fifty-cent show, regardless of the fact that it had no menagerie and gave no parade. It developed that Ald. Scott had been more active in the matter than anyone else and that he had not consulted Ald. Hall, chairman of the committee, until three days after the incident. Mayor Carle held that the city clerk should have taken no action without the approval of the committee and after a lively talk around the circle the whole matter was dropped.

Praise For the Police.
In introducing the circus license to the council, the honor took occasion to pay the highest compliment for the manner in which it had handled the circus on August 13. There had been no serious accident or untoward incident and impartial observers, particularly at the intersection of East Milwaukee and Main streets, had characterized the work of the small force as little short of miraculous. It had been a practice to ensure the police department for many things that transpired and it was no more than right that the officers should have a puff for the splendid account they had given of themselves on the day in question. The city clerk was directed to draw orders on the treasurer, in the sum of $5 payable from the general fund to Fred Benke, J. E. Fisher, Verne Murdock, John Crow, Michael Fanning, and George H. Palmer for services as special patrolmen on circus day.

Library Board Changes.
The Mayor filled three vacancies on the public library board by the appointment of Mrs. Julia Lovejoy to succeed herself and Charles S. Cleveland and Fred A. Canfield to succeed H. L. Stashum and Wilson Lane. The appointments were confirmed.

Matters of Finance.
The finance committee's reports on bills and the salary list were read and accepted and an order was passed directing the clerk to draw on the treasurer for $232.51 payable from the general fund to Haysner & Beers for the $50,000 bond for the city treasurer furnished by the Title Guaranty and Surety Co. and extending over a period of two years. The bond was subsequently approved by the judiciary committee and accepted on its recommendation.

Coment Specifications.
Three petitions from property owners requesting that the clause in the city's official specifications for cement curbs and gutters which required the use of crushed granite free from dust be dropped, were read from the desk of clerk by Ald. Barney Horace. Mr. Troy addressed the council in behalf of the cement contractors. In the citation of numerous illustrations, he endeavored to show that Janesville sand and gravel costing 65 cents a yard was quite as good material for the purpose as baraboo granite costing $4; that as a matter of fact the granite had sold, if ever, been used in actual practice and the city had so far disregarded its own specifications as to use crushed baraboo granite, at least half of which was dust, in building curb and gutter around the little park in the second ward. In view of the lateness of the season and the fact that about all the contracts that would be let had been disposed of, Ald. Evans moved that the petitions be laid on the table. The motion carried.

Highways.
The street assessment committee's report accepting the improvement work on Washington street, from Lincoln street to Mineral Point Ave., was adopted on motion of the highway committee. The cost of the work was $2,107.75 and authority was given for the issue of certificates for $1,593.57 due the contractor.

Favorable action was also taken with regard to the street assessment committee's report on the cost of the curb and gutter on Washington, Olive and North Bluff streets, from Mineral Point Ave. to Madison and N. First streets to Linden, Washington, and Glen streets. The sum of $1,259.59 is due Contractor C. E. Snyder.

The city engineer was directed to check the established grade on S. Jackson street, between St. Lawrence Ave. and S. Second St., as directed by the aldermen of the ward.

Streets.
Directions were given the street commissioners to build brick crosswalks over Ringold St., on the north side of Racine; Racine St., on the east side of Ringold; S. Third on the east side of S. Bluff; and Jefferson Ave. on the north side of S. Second St., and to serve notices on owners of certain property in Smith's addition on S. Washington St., and on Menominee street to build standard walks. The owner of 54 feet of street frontage in the owner's second addition will be required to remove his present sidewalk and replace it with a new one at the standard grade. The street commissioner is directed to direct the street commissioner to have a standard walk built in front on James Corcoran's property on Pleasant street, occasioned by a lively tilt between Aldermen Dulin, the sponsor of this measure, and Ald. Evans. The latter offered an amendment including the frontage of numerous lots on the south side of the street in order. Ald. Dulin said that the amendment was offered to block his order but that Corcoran had been dodging the issue for three years and that if it was the last thing the speaker ever did, he'd see to it that the walk was built. So he accepted the amendment and the order was amended was passed.

Water Main Extension.
The Janesville Water Co.'s proposal to extend a six-inch main 50 feet on Ruggs Ave. and Ringold (formerly Liberty) street on condition that the city pay $25 per annum rental for three additional hydrants, and to extend a two-inch pipe 600 feet on Ringold street, the residents agreeing to take the service and pay for it from the time the mains are laid and ready for use, was accepted.

Minimum as Rate.
City Attorney G. Maxfield's communication to the council asking for authority to file with the rate commission a complaint against the minimum rate alleged to have been established by the New Gas Light Co. in violation of the statutes, was read and a resolution authorizing him to take such steps was passed. The city attorney though the case against the Gas Co., which is now pending, would come, upon the September calendar.

Miscellaneous Business.
The new road grader has been found to have a defective tachometer and the manufacturers will be required to replace it. The city clerk was directed to advertise for bids for coal, favorable action was taken on the report of the superintendent of the city engineer for the two weeks ending Aug. 20. James Gillespie, junior of the city hall, was granted ten days' vacation with pay in the month of September. Alderman Sheridan was the only absentee from the meeting.

NO DANGER OF ANY SERIOUS EPIDEMIC

Cholera Infantum Appears in Janesville But Health Officer Does Not Fear An Epidemic.

Three deaths by cholera infantum, during such summer weather as has prevailed, is a remarkable record for any city of this size to make. While two deaths by this cause on Saturday and Sunday might cause a fear, if one were unacquainted with the facts, that there was danger of an epidemic, City Health Officer Dr. J. H. Richards reports that there are no more cases in the city, although if the present spell of hot, sultry weather continues, the danger to children will be increased. Compared to the conditions in many other cities and particularly in the larger cities, Janesville is singularly blessed with a small death rate from this cause. The death rate in New York is appalling. The main cause of Janesville's good health is pure water and comparatively pure food. If the water supply becomes contaminated and coupled with that, poor food and blistering hot weather, the death rate will be increased. In further proof that health conditions about the city are very good, it is stated that there is only one case of typhoid fever in the city and no other contagious diseases.

SPARROWS KILLED BY LAST NIGHT'S STORM

Thousands Died Apparently Shocked to Death—Damage Through County and State.

During the electrical storm which swept over Janesville last night several thousand sparrows lost their lives and were found this morning lying in heaps on the walks and beneath the trees where they had taken shelter. Near the Catholic place on Pleasant street several hundred were found and in the vicinity of Green Tobacco Warehouse where the storm tore down the vines from the side of the building, many others were lying dead. Advisers from the county in general report that the storm was most severe and considerable damage was done.

A report from Neillsville says that the storm took the proportions of a cyclone and the residents fled from the city in haste to the country.

At Mantowoc, it is said that not in twenty years has this county experienced so severe an electrical storm as Monday night. Thousands of dollars in damage resulted. Four serious washouts were caused on the Northwestern road north of there.

At Madison the rainfall last night was 3.67 inches in five hours, the heaviest since 1906.

At La Crosse the rainfall last night was nearly three inches in four hours, a new record for that place.

INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL CLUB.

When the average man goes into a store to buy a cigar and picks one that is not a Janesville brand, he is pulling a shingle off of his own and some neighbor's house.

There is some little satisfaction, though, in the fact that the box the cigar was packed in was probably made in Janesville.

Thoroughgood & Co., make Cigar Boxes, Cigar Box Lumber and Cigar Labels. And this firm ships these Janesville made goods all over the United States. Again, Janesville products are so good that the demand reaches every corner of this country. This firm employs fifty people and they all live in Janesville. When you take a trip to some other city and some man who might be in a position to use or tell someone else about Cigar Boxes or Lumber or the Labels, just remember that right in your home city a factory is making these products as well and better than most other concerns.

Notice to the Public of Janesville—Read This Carefully—This Is For Your Own Benefit

When you sell your junk, you want to get all that you can. It doesn't matter what you sell, whether it is rubber, rags, iron, grain or anything else, you want the highest market prices and correct weight. When you sell, keep these instructions in mind: Have your rags and rubber weighed before you sell them to anybody. When you have iron, don't sell it in a lump. Have it weighed. You don't want to sell $5.00 worth for $1.00. If you have no scales, borrow one from your neighbor, so that you will always be sure that you are getting correct weight. It doesn't pay to get high prices and get only half weight. If anyone says that they give higher prices than Rotstein Bros. do, don't believe them. You will find that if they over pay they underweight. Here is a remarkable fact. A farmer came in here with some iron to sell that he had been offered 75c for, and he was surprised when he learned what it was worth. He asked if we did not make a mistake in paying him so much money. We told him, "No," that we gave the regular market prices and the correct weights and that was all. The iron that this man was offered 75c for was sold to us for $5.00, and another farmer who came in with him got $6.25 for some junk that he was offered $1.25 for. The difference in prices is the difference between fair and honest dealings, correct weights and market prices and underhanded, unprincipled buying.

You don't have to be fooled in the future. Just call us up. We have both phones. If you have no phone, drop us a card and we will call. We have been established in Janesville for about ten years and honest methods have characterized our dealings. You always get twice or three times as much from us as you would get from peddlers. It doesn't make any difference what they promise, it's what they actually do that counts.

We don't send our teams out for small lots, but if you have 50c worth or more we will call for it.

Many irresponsible peddlers say that they come from us. Do not believe them unless you see the sign on our wagon. Every wagon we send out has our sign "ROTSTEIN BROS." on it. Look for the sign.

Note: Slanderous statements have been made regarding us by some peddlers. We will give $5.00 reward to the party who furnishes us the name of anyone making untruthful remarks about us, as we want to prosecute them to the full extent of the law.

PICKED BY CORBETT TO DEFEAT JOHNSON.
Miles McLeod.

St. Louis, Mo.—Miles McLeod, the Gentry county Mo. young giant, who is one of the pugilistic aspirants that Jim Corbett has picked to train to meet Jack Johnson, is of Scotch descent. McLeod has lived a perfect life in that he has no handicaps such as prize fighters now on the shelf blame for their retirement.

There is no hint of narcotic or alcoholic poison in his system. He can boast that perfect manhood that results from the eating of food without the dangerous embellishments so common to city life. Tobacco and strong drink he knows not. Fresh air and plenty of hard work have been his only tonics.

He was born on the present McLeod homestead, near Albany, in Gentry county, Mo., some 50 miles from St. Joseph, the northwest metropolis of the "show-Mo" state, on July 12, 1882. The 28 years have been spent as a farmer boy, working as do other boys and having only the sports and pastimes common to rural life, as his recreation. He is not a college bred man and does not claim to be an athlete in the generally accepted sense of the term.

However, he is well proportioned, quick to move and think and strong as a Grand River valley steer. His training as a fighter has not been in a city gymnasium, but rather his remarkable insight to the game has come from the countryside hours of friendship where every fellow he met intended to give and take as good as the other.

It must not be understood from this that he is entirely "green," but rather that he has little of the ring generalship of tricks of the squared circle.

Small Japs Labeled.
The children of the poor in Japan are often labeled in case they should stray from their homes when their mothers are engaged in domestic duties.

Graphic Illustration.
An Irish peasant witness in a recent Irish election case said: "I was taken in a motor car. It was the first time I had been in one. The ditches were running one way, and we were running the other."

SULTAN OF ZULU.
Coming to America for Bride.

San Francisco, Cal.—The Sultan of Zulu, made popular by light opera and Albee Roosevelt, Longworth, is to visit America within a few weeks. It is expected that this picturesque monarch will visit many of the principal cities and is likely to call upon President Taft.

The sultan comes with the avowed intention of adding to his harem of 14 wives a beautiful American girl for his fifteenth bride, who will share one-fifth of the honor of being the queen of Zulu land.

True, the sultan's idea of acceptability may be a little capricious, and the girl, when deemed acceptable, may talk a little of being the fifteenth wife, but the possibilities for financial gain are none the less enormous.

The sultan's mission to America, however, is twofold. He is a consistent conservator of time and other resources. He has to be with 14 wives dependent upon him. He is looking for a fifteenth wife, but he is just as currently seeking an American in his position, which is now but $125 a month. With 14 harem mates to divide his $125 among, even the sultan has some trouble making both ends meet.

The sultan raised the $25,000 from his ancestral estates. Wives are his extravagance. He paid $25,000 for one English girl, who lives in Singapore. His fondness for American women dates from the time President Taft and his party visited Zulu. In the party was Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, to whom the susceptible sultan immediately proposed marriage. He gave her a beautiful burnt leather saddle and some pearls to show his good will.

The sultan wanted to show his good will to his subjects and started for America via China more than a month ago. Before leaving Zulu, where he has his palace, his harem and harem for pearls, he stated to his 14 daughters that he would bring, if possible, a fairer wife from over the seas, and by way of consolation, also told of his intention to leave no stone unturned in seeking an American to his position.

The 14 wives know as well as he that high cost of living has its effects on both cloth and hotel bills, which are as necessary in the sultan's country as in America, and here, and each knows that if her harem lord is not successful at Washington, that her monthly allowance will shrink from $100 to $50, which is most paltry for a small state, though most of his wives were brought to Zulu. Still, on his $125 he has found his trouphills overlooking.

PRESIDENT TAFT RAPS SHERMAN

TAKES OLD PLACE AS ROOSEVELT'S FRIEND—DENIES SHARE IN SNUB.

BLOW FOR THE "OLD GUARD"

Brands as Untrue Charge He Aided in Colonel's Defeat as Chairman of New York Republican Convention—Urged Conference.

New York, Aug. 23.—President Taft and former President Roosevelt are to outwardly appear again as fellow workers in the same political field. The threat that they might pull apart has apparently been refuted by a full explanation on one side and an unreserved acceptance on the other.

The president makes it plain in a letter given out here by Lloyd C. Griscom, president of the New York Republican county committee, how the misunderstanding arose. He explains that he never took any part in a committee cabal to defeat Colonel Roosevelt for temporary chairman of the coming Republican state convention. On the contrary, he explicitly deplors the result of the committee meetings which chose Vice-President Sherman. He rebukes the party leaders who have permitted it to go abroad uncontradicted that the president of the United States was behind their factional preferences. He insists that at every opportunity he advised the full-out conference with Colonel Roosevelt.

For his part, Colonel Roosevelt, when he read President Taft's letter as communicated to him at Oyster Bay, said:

"I am very glad to see President Taft's letter and am pleased with it." The text of President Taft's letter follows:

Reply to Griscom's Telegram.

"Dover, Mass., Aug. 20, 1910.

"My Dear Mr. Griscom: As you know from your telephone conversations with my office, I have steadily refused to admit the propriety or necessity of the president's replying to newspaper statements which are not based on any act or authorized word of his and have no sponsor. I am entirely willing, however, to reply categorically to your telegram of August 19, which has just arrived and which is as follows:

"I am informed and believe that several members of the New York state committee who voted for Vice-President Sherman over ex-President Roosevelt as nominee for state chairman of the state convention were influenced by statements that the vice-president's name was presented to defeat Colonel Roosevelt in accordance with your wish. A member of the state committee declared to me before the meeting that Mr. Sherman's candidacy had been arranged with you by telephone the previous day. Efforts have been made to create an impression that you favor a particular candidate for election as state chairman. I want you to know that the injection of the name of a high member of your administration into a factional conflict has produced a most complicated situation, and the absence of any authoritative information as to your attitude is seriously misleading many Republicans and impairing a movement for progressive party leadership and clean government in this state. I know you desire us to have a fair field and hope that this may be made clear to the public."

Favored Roosevelt as Chairman.

"The suggestion that I have ever expressed a wish to defeat Mr. Roosevelt for the temporary chairmanship of the convention or have even taken the slightest step to do so is wholly untrue. I never heard Mr. Sherman's name suggested as temporary chairman of the state convention until I saw in the newspapers of August 16 that he had been selected at the meeting of the committee. When you called at my house Saturday evening, August 13, you told me that Mr. Roosevelt intended to go to the convention as a delegate and you suggested incidentally his being made temporary chairman, a suggestion in which I acquiesced. It did not occur to me that anyone would oppose it. This was the first time the subject of the temporary chairmanship was mentioned to me by anyone. You did not ask me to take any action whatever with respect to it. After a full discussion of the New York state situation I drafted in your presence the following telegram and sent it to Mr. Sherman:

Would Avoid All Controversy.

"Honorable James S. Sherman, Vice-President, Utica, N. Y.

"Please say to Ward and Woodruff that I have had a long conference with Griscom. He confirms my judgment already expressed to you that the whole situation in New York may be saved without humiliation to anyone and with victory for the party by a full conference with Mr. Roosevelt and reasonable concessions with reference to platforms and candidates. "The thing of all others that ought to be avoided is a controversy in the convention. I am told by Mr. Griscom that such a conference with Mr. Roosevelt might conveniently be had and would be welcomed by him before the state committee meets on Thursday. Hope you will be able to report satisfactory solution when you come on Wednesday.—William H. Taft."

Protests Against Root's Name.

"On the afternoon of Monday, August 15, Mr. Sherman telephoned me from New York and for the first time apprised me of the fact that there was a proposal to oppose Mr. Roosevelt for the temporary chairmanship and that, with Mr. Root's name, no other name than Mr. Root's was mentioned. I protested against the idea of a contest on such a matter, peremptorily declined to be drawn into a fight against Mr. Roosevelt, and again renewed my urgent advice that there be prompt and full personal conference with Mr. Roosevelt before the committee meeting with a view to securing harmony and victory for the party."

Deplores Break in New York.

"Mr. Sherman called upon me here on the 17th instant to meet an engagement of a week's standing made with him and Mr. Loudenslager to discuss the congressional campaign text-book. Mr. Loudenslager was prevented from coming by an illness. During the conference with Mr. Sherman I told him I deplored the result of the meeting of the New York state committee because, unless the break was repaired, it meant division between New York Republicans and probable defeat. Upon leaving me Mr. Sherman agreed to go into a conference with Mr. Roosevelt, provided he were invited to do so, with a view of adjusting the situation if possible even at that late date. Mr. Nicholas Longworth was present and said he would send a telegram to bring about a conference. What the result has been I do not know."

Favored No Particular Candidate.

"Finally, in your telegram received this morning you state that efforts have been made to create the impression that I favor a particular candidate for election as state chairman. This is absolutely untrue. I have expressed no opinion on the subject since an effort was made last winter by the New York congressional delegation to secure Mr. Woodruff's retirement, which failed. "I am very sorry indeed to observe columns of unfounded assertions in the newspapers concerning my attitude in respect to the New York situation. You know, however, as well as other New York leaders that whenever my advice or assistance in reaching a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties arising has been sought, I have urged the necessity for the fullest conference with Mr. Roosevelt by the members of the organization and with due deference to honest difference of opinion, have expressed the view which I still entertain that the solution of the direct primary issue can be found in provisions similar to those of the Cobb bill as amended in accord with the memorial signed by Mr. Seth Low, Mr. Joseph Choate and other prominent Republicans of New York city. "Sincerely yours, "WILLIAM H. TAFT."

other name than Mr. Root's was mentioned. I protested against the idea of a contest on such a matter, peremptorily declined to be drawn into a fight against Mr. Roosevelt, and again renewed my urgent advice that there be prompt and full personal conference with Mr. Roosevelt before the committee meeting with a view to securing harmony and victory for the party."

"Mr. Sherman called upon me here on the 17th instant to meet an engagement of a week's standing made with him and Mr. Loudenslager to discuss the congressional campaign text-book. Mr. Loudenslager was prevented from coming by an illness. During the conference with Mr. Sherman I told him I deplored the result of the meeting of the New York state committee because, unless the break was repaired, it meant division between New York Republicans and probable defeat. Upon leaving me Mr. Sherman agreed to go into a conference with Mr. Roosevelt, provided he were invited to do so, with a view of adjusting the situation if possible even at that late date. Mr. Nicholas Longworth was present and said he would send a telegram to bring about a conference. What the result has been I do not know."

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

According to an eastern exchange, it is now admitted by leading republican regulars in the west that insurgency has already gone so far as to make it next to impossible for the republican organization forces to control the sixty-second congress. There is no longer an effort within the ranks to conceal the fact that whether or not the democrats shall succeed in electing a majority of members of the national house, or in obtaining control of legislatures now republican, it will be possible for them to form an alliance with disaffected republicans in sufficient number to deprive the regular republicans of control. Not only are we in sight, it is claimed, of a party-colored house, but of a party-colored senate also, and the tangible outgrowth of the main combination has been named the "Bi-Partisan Insurgency-Democratic" party.

It is not necessary that all the hopes on one side nor all the fears on the other be realized in order to enable the elements that have become restive under present party control to form an offensive and defensive alliance that will make it exceedingly difficult for the old organizations to do business, unless one or the other of them shall surrender and accept new leadership and new policies. That is to say, the outlook affords no assurance whatsoever that political organization in congress will be continued as it has been understood for many years.

In the change that seems certain to take place in the next congress, insurgency, if it be called upon to assume responsibility, will be put to a severe test. The manner in which it shall respond to this call will determine the length of its lease of influence and power. It has established itself already as a force to be reckoned with in opposition. Ability of a very different and a very much higher character will be expected of its leaders, if it shall become the directing hand in legislation. It is not too soon even now for its leaders to prepare for the greater tasks awaiting them.

There was a meeting of the faithful at Madison last Saturday where ways and means of still controlling the politics of the state were fully discussed. On the same day the magazine of the senior senator was freely distributed with cartoons belittling the President of the United States. If this is republican politics then the good Lord save us from a continuation of it in Wisconsin.

FUTURE FOR THE SOUTH.

A great deal has been said of late regarding industrial progress in the South, and no more has been said in this respect than the facts seem to justify. The South has made wonderful strides industrially and commercially during the last twenty years, and there is reason to believe that it will show greater progress still in the immediate future. But little attention has up to this time been paid to the influence of this growth and prosperity upon political conditions in the section, yet it is plain that with an increasing population the South must take a more advanced position in the political affairs of the nation than it has at any time since the Civil war.

Already expectations have been raised to a high pitch in the South in anticipation of a most favorable showing by the national census. Whether the recent hopes of increased representation shall be realized or not, one striking result of the South's advancement is to be found in the fact that there is no longer any talk of cutting the representation down.

Probably the southern states will add several seats under the new apportionment, but since the South has not gained in population at a greater rate than the North, the number is likely to be smaller than it anticipates. Nevertheless, its standing in national affairs will be stronger and it should be able to exert a greater influence in both politics and legislation than it has at any time since 1860.

It is regrettable that in discussing the prospects of wider political opportunities certain southern newspapers should assume that the section shall continue to be "solid" indefinitely, asserting its increasing political influence through this solidity. Such expressions would be more regrettable, however, if there were not in those more recent times numerous and unmistakable evidences of a tendency in the South to break away from traditions that it has outgrown. There are indications that the time is within measurable distance when the South will express itself at the polls as independently of party ties as does the North.

MANIFESTO ISSUED.
The Society of Equity and the Federation of Labor have issued a manifesto to their members as to whom they must and whom they must not vote for state and assembly offices. It is understood that among those who are to be placed on the black list for defeat is Laurence Whitte of Edgerton, a candidate for the assembly. If the farmers of Rock county are going to be dictated to by a few men as to whom they shall and shall not vote for the day of representative government is a thing of the past. It is to be hoped that the voters of the first assembly district will exercise their own judgment in the matter of selecting their candidates and permit local conditions to govern their choice. Mr. Whitte is too good a man to be defeated simply from the fact that he has displeased a few men in a certain portion of the state by his vote while protecting the interests of the farmers of the district which he was elected to represent.

There appears to be no lack of unity on the part of the progressive republican leaders to belittle President Taft. Recently at a political meeting in Green county a candidate for congress made a long talk of self-praise but never mentioned the President or any other republican candidate. The same is true of the candidates for the head of the ticket. They harp on their own virtues but fail to mention the real issue of the campaign, Taft and republicanism, as typified by the last national republican convention.

Rain has come in the nick of time to save the corn crops of the county. With the grain well out of the way, the hay crop gathered and stored now corn and sugar beets can go ahead and grow as much as they like.

"Esperanto" is said to be the coming language of the world. Just how the average Missourian would take it when he talks is hard to say. Usually good, strong English is needed to make him even move his ears, but perhaps he could learn.

Chicago is having a hard time with its Brownie trial and its Illinois Central investigation. Between the two and general politics things are kept humming down in the Sucker state this summer.

Emperor William has fifty-eight imperial palaces in different parts of his empire. He is really a royal nomad when you figure it all out.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

The woes of this life are as many as sands by the wet, walling sea; no mortal there lives without any; none CONSOLATION lives in perpetual gloom. We rise from our beds in the dawning from dreaming of gold by the tub, and go to our uncles, apawing our watches, to buy as some grub. We blow in for position and philtre, the coin that we earned by hard knuckles, to fix up our works, out of kilter, and sleep, at the end, in a box. The plans that we make are all hazy, our schemes are all hushy and pink; along comes some unwholesome Matty, and knocks the whole works into junk. Man works like a steer in the furrow, and till the heart in him bursts; and all at the yinke in his burrow are gathered at last by the trusts. And I might go on till you're weary, explaining how futile is life, how dismal, dogged and dreary, how chuck full of sorrow and strife. But life without grief would be futile, and silly and sordid and tame; the world must be ugly and brutal, or there'd be no snap to the game. If trouble should never more wound us, we'd shrink to the stature of gnats; no glories would stampede around us, and kick the old world in the state.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

HIS MAJESTY THE DEVIL.

An Iowa preacher believes in giving the devil his due.
He says Satan has been greatly maligned—that he is a beautiful and seductive personage with subtle qualities that attract rather than repel. "He has neither horns, hoofs nor tail."

Well—
The Bible does say something about his appearing as an angel of light, but it also says he is as a roaring lion going about seeking whom he may devour. Possibly he is the sort of lion who mostly "roars as gently as any sucking dove."

He is an up to date devil.
No theologian has yet successfully solved the origin of evil of which Satan is the personification, but there is a devil, all right—and a hell. You may easily make the acquaintance of either.

Satan has said, "The devil is an ass." He is not. He is a seductive individual of good address, easily approached and suave as a courtier.
He will be hand and glove with you before you are aware. The only safe way is to keep him at a distance.

It is written of this sometime seducer that if you resist him he will flee away from you. He may still hang around some and try to be a good fellow, but if he finds that you mean business he will not stand on the order of his going. He may make polite calls, but he will not wear out his welcome.

Be careful as to his makeup. Don't look for him in the guise of a bright red suit.

The Prince of Darkness is not the sort of devil who fronts Faust, or at whom Martin Luther threw his inkstand, nor is he the leering reprobate such as Lore painted.

Milton came nearer to the right portraiture—a fallen angel, cunning, powerful, enticing.

Shakespeare said he was a gentleman. He often is—in appearance, that depend upon it he never gets above his business.

And he makes, and leaves, his work in whatever social circle he is invited.

On the whole, the description of the Iowa preacher corresponds with the writer's own more or less acquaintance with his satanic majesty. How is it with you?

The really important thing to keep in mind respecting the devil is that, though he wears no tail and carries no pitchforks, he may "ketch" you—you don't watch out.

Can You Answer—Instantly?

Who were all the candidates opposed to Taft for the presidency?

Name the Democratic vice-presidential candidate who ran during the last national campaign?

Who is vice-president of the United States? Give his initials.

Who is the lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania?

Who ran for governor of your state during the last campaign?

If you cannot remember these people who were so well advertised a short time ago how do you expect others to remember you?

Mr. Merchant, get busy—advertise every week, or you, too, will soon be forgotten.

Publicity is Necessary.

How is it possible for a business man to make his business a success unless he lets people know that he is in business? That means publicity. And how is a man to gain that publicity and thereby attain the success he wants unless he advertises?

The time is ripe to make a contract for a steady rain of advertising. Let the water begin to fall. It will begin to soak in at once; and as the weeks lengthen into months, you have watered your entire territory, and the ground will give forth abundance of fruit.

You don't realize that three-fourths of the water in an "old soaker" runs off, and finds its way in to the gutters.

The city merchants are reaching out on all the rural routes through extensive advertising in the city dailies, and capturing business which rightfully belongs to the country merchants if they will only go after this trade and use the same weapon that the city merchants do—advertising.

Heralds the Town's Character.
It is noticeable that the editors in the smaller towns are advising their merchants to do more and better advertising. They are not giving this advice for self, as many imagine. The character of the town is heralded through the advertisement which appears in its local papers as well as editorials. The editors of these papers know very well that the prosperity of the town depends in a great degree upon the publicity given by the different merchants to their goods.

The merchants, by liberal and judicious advertising, would not only increase his own business, but would also materially assist the prosperity of the town. By advertising in his local paper, the merchant would eliminate to a great extent the outside competition of which he now complains. The people have to be shown that they can obtain as good merchandise in their own town as they can get elsewhere, and the way to do this is by advertising in your local paper.

A party called the other day for an examination and estimate of probable cost of needed dental work.

We made a date for his return to begin the work.

He didn't keep the appointment but later he came back, saying that a friend had persuaded him to consult his dentist.

But he "wouldn't stand for it" when the dentist gave him prices.

The difference in price was something awful.

I try to make my prices reasonable.

And when my patients see the beautiful work I do for them they know they are getting Value Received in every way.

STATE MEETING OF HIBERNIANS

MANY DELEGATES IN CITY TODAY FOR BIENNIAL CONVENTION.

OPENED WITH HIGH MASS

Services Held at St. Patrick's Church This Morning and Evening

The fourteenth biennial convention of the state order of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and of the Ladies' Auxiliary was opened in this city this morning with one hundred and twenty delegates, fifty ladies and seventy gentlemen, in the city, for the sessions, which last through today and tomorrow and will close with a grand banquet and ball tomorrow evening. Among the cities represented at the convention are Milwaukee, Chippewa Falls, Ashland, Oshkosh, Orono, Kenosha, Racine, Fond du Lac, Marinette and New Richmond. Included in the Milwaukee delegation are state president Joseph P. Callan, Hon. James L. O'Connor, ex-officio general of Wisconsin, Matthew Hayes Carpenter, Lawrence Conway, John H. Callahan, Prof. M. J. Rohan, and Rev. E. J. Blackwell, state chaplain.

The ceremonies of the day were opened with a service at St. Patrick's church, the delegates and the members of the local order and ladies' auxiliary attending. Rev. Dean E. E. Kelly celebrated solemn high mass and delivered an eloquent address to the members, tracing the history of the order to its source in Ireland four hundred years ago, when it was established to protect the priests while they were officiating at the religious ceremonies in the glens and dales of Ireland.

The bigoted intolerance of the English government, the speaker said, forbade the freedom of the Catholics of Ireland, and made the killing of a priest a felony punishable with the death of the priest. The schoolmasters also shared the same fate. The order, now, after four hundred years of a checkered existence, numbers one hundred and fifty thousand men and sixty thousand women and is a potent factor for moulding and cementing a strong Irish-American sentiment in this country.

The purpose of this convention is to prosecute and formulate plans for the betterment, numerically and intellectually, the numbers of the order in Wisconsin. There are several propositions to be considered, such as the further spread of the order by putting organizers in the field, while the subject of sending a student to the Catholic University of America, who will receive a free scholarship, valued at four hundred dollars per year, in that institution, will be discussed and carried through. The candidate will be selected by competitive examination and will have to have two relatives to participate. The first is that he be the son of a Hibernian from either parent, and secondly, he must while pursuing his studies at the University of Washington, take the Gaelic course. The order now has a number of such scholarships in Washington.

Today's Sessions.
Following high mass at the church, the convention was opened in Eagle's hall by the address of welcome by Mayor William F. Carlo. The address was responded to by State President Callan. After the appointment of the committee on credentials, adjournment was taken until two o'clock this afternoon.

This afternoon the first business of importance was the presentation of the president's address giving the details of the work done by the order during the last two years—President Callan's regime. The rest of the session was devoted to the reports of the state secretary, state treasurer, and the appointment of the various committees. This evening in Spanish War Veterans' hall a musical entertainment will be given by the local Ladies' Auxiliary to the visitors.

Re-election for Callan.
Tomorrow the election of officers of the state order for the next two years will take place. Although President Callan feels that, because of his manifold duties in Milwaukee, he would like to retire at this session, the Milwaukee delegation, conscious of his worth and the loss the order would sustain, will insist that he fill the office for the next two years. Milwaukee has a membership of one half of the numerical strength of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Wisconsin, claims the right to select the state president. The officers, whose terms have expired are: George H. McCall of Chippewa Falls, vice president; John P. Heffernan of this city, state secretary; L. F. Matthews of Ashland, state treasurer.

Officers, trustees, and stewards of the Carroll Memorial M. E. Church were all re-elected at the quarterly conference of the church held last evening, and the minutes of Dr. J. W. Stevens and William Howard were read to the board of stewards. Rev. John Reynolds, superintendent of the district, presided at the meeting, and W. J. Cannon, G. A. Jacobs, H. P. Kott, W. L. Rothman, Dr. Stevens, E. B. Boushman and Dr. F. T. Richards were elected as delegates to the meeting of the Wisconsin Association in Edgemoor on September 10, at which time a banquet will be served to the delegates and Gov. Frank Hoan of Indiana is expected to speak.

The report of Rev. T. W. Williams, read last evening, showed that sixteen new members have been received into the church and fifty have been welcomed to the congregation from outside churches by certificate. For benevolent purposes over seven hundred and fifty dollars have been raised and contributions made by the Sunday School for missions have amounted to over one hundred dollars, while the Epworth League has contributed fifty dollars for this purpose. An invitation was extended to Rev. Williams to continue his work here for another year.

GETTING EVEN

If ever there existed a young man possessed of better health than Benjamin Hubbard possesses he has not been discovered. Since the law of contraries works overtime in his case, however, he is in a constant state of worry over imaginary diseases.

If Hubbard pricks his finger accidentally a case of blood poisoning looms up immediately. A headache in invariably the precursor of something deadly. Hubbard in imagination has already died a thousand times in his vigorous young life and he bids fair to continue in the good work.

This sort of thing is especially annoying to his best friend, Brinks, who shares bachelor apartments with Hubbard. Brinks is a physician. Brinks has grown tired to the sight of Hubbard rushing in with a pale face and to the announcement that it is all up with him—a peculiar pain in his left elbow, or something equally ominous being the sign of a fatal disease.

On all these occasions Brinks thumps Hubbard's lungs and tests his heart mechanically, only once in a while rising in his wrath and expressing his professional feelings. Nothing, however, seems to convince Hubbard of his all-around foolishness.

That was why Brinks grained delightedly the other day when he looked in the mirror and an idea developed in his mind.

Brinks had been foolish enough to apply cold cream to his face when he knew how it always acted—but a dash downtown that morning had coated him with soot and cluders and, soap and water proving ineffective, he had tried the cream as a dirt remover. It took off the soot, but persisted in remaining in shining evidence. Periodically through the day Brinks scrubbed with hot water and soap and still the cold cream came back to the surface. By dinner time his countenance resembled a parboiled and well-battered beet and despair seized him, for he had an engagement that evening. Then he remembered a certain drug and hastily swabbed his face with it.

It is a stuff which contracts the blood vessels instantly in any part of the body, producing a lovely pallor. This time it worked in spots and telegraphic dashes and Brinks saw facing him in the mirror a countenance weird and fearful. Some places were beautifully and naturally pale, others were still of a boiled red tint. It really was a remarkable achievement in the line of a complexion, the like of which Brinks never recalled having seen. From a scientific point of view he was forced to admire it, though he realized he couldn't appear in society that evening. Then he resolved not to suffer alone.

Hubbard coming in found Brinks distractedly peering in the glass at himself. Then he turned to the newcomer.

"By jove!" he gasped out. "It is—sure as fate!"

"What?" asked Hubbard, casually. Then, at sight of Brinks' face, he jumped. "Good heavens, man!" he breathed. "What's the matter with you?"

"Smallpox," confessed Brinks, solemnly and hopelessly.

Hubbard collapsed into a chair. "Are you sure?" that horror-stricken individual got out, in a stage whisper.

"I don't see what else it can be," returned Brinks. "Just come and look at it."

"Oh, I see!" said Hubbard, hastily backing off. "Then—then I suppose I'll get it, too!"

Brinks regarded his friend with pitying eyes. "You can't help getting it," he replied. "It's too bad, old chap—but you've been right with me while it was developing. It's too late now to save you!"

Hubbard moaned and ran his fingers shakily through his hair. "Then," he faltered, "I suppose I can't go to see Mabel this evening?"

To appreciate the dimensions of this calamity one would have to know the doglike constancy of Hubbard in calling on Mabel. He counts that day lost in which he and Mabel do not see each other.

Brinks looked more solemn than ever.

He threw himself on the couch and Brinks sat down to read. After a few moments of silent suffering Hubbard turned over and surveyed his roommate. "Aren't you going to do anything for it?" he demanded. "What are you sitting around for?"

"I am trying," Brinks replied, severely. "To compose my mind for what is before me. Presently I shall ring for an ambulance and go to the isolation hospital. I don't know whether they'll insist on your seeing or not."

There was another groan from Hubbard and again silence reigned. It was ten o'clock when Brinks threw down his books and arose cheerfully. "Well, guess I'll turn in," he announced.

Hubbard sat up and stared at him. The effect of the drug had worn off and Brinks' face was once more normal.

"Sold!" he told Hubbard, nonchalantly. "Paid you back, you blooming idiot, for all the bother you've made me in the p. p. n." Then he explained. "I can't think of anything brutal enough to do to you offhand," said Hubbard, wrathfully, when he got his breath.

"Well, meanwhile you might go and telephone Mabel!" suggested Brinks.

Lover and Husband.

A reserved lover, it is said, always makes a suspicious husband.—Goldsmith's "Who Stoops to Conquer," 1773.

WOMAN IN MAN'S GUISE FOR FIVE YEARS.

Elena B. Smith, as she looks today and in male attire, as "Al" Martinez.

New York, N. Y.—There have been instances recorded in history of women who have accompanied their husbands to war, but never in fiction or history does there appear to have been any woman who so thoroughly and successfully masqueraded as a man in all places that men go, and in all things that men do, without a soul ever giving her a second glance as Elena B. Smith.

It was five years ago that one night in a Boston club the association was made that only women who were masculine in appearance could accomplish such a thing. A physician in the group contended that almost any woman of nerve could do it.

CHOLERA DEVASTATING ITALY.

King Victor of Italy, is visiting the stricken regions of his country; Pope Pius who has opened a portion of the Vatican as a hospital, and a typical Italian family group, showing the class most severely afflicted.

Rome, Italy.—In spite of the most emphatic denials of the officials of Rome, it is well established that the great cholera epidemic is at its very doors and may spread to the Capital City at any moment. The seriousness of the situation was brought

There were arguments and a wager was the result.

The physician knew Mrs. Smith, and the next day broached the subject to her. He had bet more deeply than he had cared to go, that he could find a woman who could live as a man, work as a man, mingle with men for one year without detection. He offered the woman $2,500 if she would carry out the feat. The result was that as Albert C. Martinez, the young South American, Elena B. Smith worked throughout the first year.

Because of certain complications, she persisted for nearly four years longer, until gradually she was enabled to efface the man and restore the woman without too great a shock to several families.

During the inopportune period, Mrs. Smith held a man's position with at least eight well-known business houses of the city, until at last in her own natural character as a woman, engaged in business for herself, she worked as her own agent in her man's guise under the name of Albert Martinez.

In these business houses, while engaged as a bookkeeper, she worked side by side with scores of men, none of whom ever suspected the truth. As a salesman or agent on the outside, she walked the streets of the city daily, month in and month out visiting nearly every prominent business establishment in the city, dealt with men by the hundreds, but never a man or woman penetrated her disguise.

As Helen B. Smith who organized the Spanish-American publicity company. The company first had offices at No. 21 Liberty street, and later at No. 150 Nassau street. It was here that Albert C. Martinez made his last appearance. He appeared occasionally as a solicitor of business, but gradually dropped out, as Helen B. Smith's hair grew longer. This was several months ago and young Martinez will never reappear.

MERGER IN LABOR BODIES A POSSIBILITY.

Washington, D. C.—"Name place and time for a conference between representatives of the American Federation of Labor and Western Federation of Miners to continue the negotiations looking to a merger," President Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners is said to have written President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor.

The stand taken by President Moyer is a direct result of the incorrect report from the recent Miners' convention at Denver, to the effect that he made a disparaging statement regarding the American Federation of Labor and its president. Moyer denies ever making a statement which could be interpreted as against the A. F. of L.

In a statement given out by Mr. Gompers today it seems that he is in a receptive mood for this proposition and stated that he would endeavor to arrange a conference as suggested by President Moyer, same to be held in Chicago this week.

PROMINENT FRISCO ATTORNEY ON WAY TO SERVE FIVE DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL.

First picture of the arrest of Duke. In rear seat, A. A. Moore, Sr., smoking cigar; Stanley Moore and John J. Garrett. In front of them are two deputy sheriffs.

San Francisco, Cal.—For contempt of court in the Patrick Calhoun case, Attorneys A. A. Moore, Sr., Stanley Moore and J. J. Garrett were sentenced to serve five days in the county jail. One week later, in accordance with the agreement made by the prisoners with Sheriff Flinn, they presented themselves in a high powered car at the sheriff's office suit cases in hand, and declared their willingness to go to jail.

It was an arrest of Duke. After the prisoners had rolled up to the sheriff's office in Calhoun's automobile, Deputy Sheriff Maurice Raphael and Attorney Abbott stepped into the car. A short consultation was held and service of the commitments was admitted. Then the party whizzed off in the direction of Inglewood, while a crowd stood watching. After courting through Golden Gate park a stop was made at a cafe and a hearty dinner enjoyed until dusk had settled, when the second half of the jailward journey was made.

MAY, SUCCEED BALLINGER.

William O. Thompson.

Columbus, Ohio.—The persistent rumors emanating from Beverly, to the effect that Secretary Ballinger was slated to leave the cabinet and the political views regarding as to who will be his successor if he should leave President Taft's cabinet. A report coming from Washington is to the effect that President William O. Thompson of Ohio State university will be appointed secretary of the Interior should Secretary Ballinger retire next month. It is well known that President Thompson stands high in the estimation of President Taft. He is of vast capabilities and popular through out the president's home state.

Welcome A. O. H.

The Big Store extends its freedom to all who may be attending the A. O. H. convention. If you are a stranger and you live conveniently to Janesville or even if you don't, the mail is quick, we say that it is for your interest to know that such a store exists in Southern Wisconsin. All newcomers are very agreeably surprised at the immensity and completeness of the stock shown by The Big Store.

It is certainly something worth knowing that all goods within reach of the large mass of people show assortments that compare favorably with anything to be found in the very largest cities.

Don't fail to visit the carpet and curtain and bedding department on the second floor. We devote about 11,000 sq. feet to this department. This is opportunity time to select rugs or curtains while our showing of the fall styles is so complete.

FURS

This week we are devoting much window space to the display of the season's best creations in Coats, Muffs, Scarfs, etc. These were all selected with great care and made especially for us in the best possible manner. We pride ourselves on our showing of furs. We think you will agree with us after seeing our garments that we have reason to be elated.

THE LATEST MODELS IN NEW FALL SUITS AND COATS are now being shown here. The first showing of advance fall styles in all of these garments were made under strike conditions and we not only bought them 10% to 15% less than we could buy the same garment for today, but the best of workmanship enters into all of our garments. The Big Store's second-handed policy of buying enables us to always show uniformly good qualities. The merchant who waits to buy goods until about the time he is ready to sell them has to take what he can get. It would be impossible for us to do this and "Keep the Quality Up."

I am only yet at the frontier of civilization, but now on my return journey. Since leaving the Park I spent a week fishing and climbing the mountains at Palisade, and four days at Wapiti engaged in the same pleasant though arduous occupations. I have often said that if a map were to work as hard at his business as he does at his pleasures he would think his lot a very severe one.

The region up the canyon of the Shoshone is one of the most splendid and picturesque I ever saw. Near Palisade, the mountains are wooded to the summit, and they rise to 10 and 11 thousand feet. The view I had from one of the lower peaks I shall never forget—range after range of peaks and table tops, serrated and frayed by water, and risen by lightning was an inspiring sight. And then below me the confluence of three of the finest flowing streams in the west, namely the main branch of the Shoshone, the Wapiti or Elk Fork and the Snake.

I had an unusual experience for a visitor one day up the Elk Fork. I went into a pretty little park or glade behind the trees to rest, when I caught sight of a tawny form, there about 40 yards in front was a bold cat. You may be sure I yielded the glade to him for one never can tell how such creatures will jump.

Prenuptial Expenses of "Thrown"

Wooer Reimbursed by Winner.

Kewanee, Ill., Aug. 23.—After Anton

Gudozek had wooed and apparently won Miss Rosalia Jaslatka, he secured a wedding license, bought a new suit and paid for the making of the bride's dress. Then the young woman decided she preferred Jozos Pilsanek as her husband and refused to marry Gudozek.

Several conferences followed, and an amicable settlement was reached when Pilsanek reimbursed Gudozek to the extent of $110 for all his prenuptial campaign and took his wedding suit.

The marriage immediately followed.

KOREA ANNEXED BY JAPAN.

Believed in Seoul That Convention Has Been Signed.

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 23.—There is good reason for believing that a convention between the emperor of Korea and the emperor of Japan providing for the annexation of Korea by Japan, was signed here by Yi Wan Yon, the Korean promoter, and Viscount Tsuruuchi, the Japanese resident general. Official silence, however, is profound and the entire proceeding is shrouded in mystery.

The city of Seoul is closely guarded, as are also the persons and residences of Korean and Japanese officials.

Prompt Treatment for Colds.
A child's cold should be treated directly it makes an appearance, and in this way it will be prevented very often from becoming really bad. Give the little one a hot bath, dry him quickly and put him into bed, and then let him have some hot milk to sip. See that he does not throw the bed clothes off while he is perspiring after this treatment. Rub his chest and back with camphorated oil in the morning and at night.

Smokeless Frying Pan.

A frying pan said to prevent smoke and odors from emanating from the food being cooked, even onions being included, is described in Popular Mechanics. One side of the wall of the pan has an extra section of wall attached. At this point the inner wall is cut low, and between the two is an opening. With the cover in position on the pan the natural draft of the cooking range starts a circulation through the pan and over the food being cooked, this circulation drawing all smoke and odors down into the fire chamber.
